

The BEST Profit Potential?

Investing In Your People

Don't overlook the enhanced value and productivity your employees can bring with continuing leadership development, mentoring and education.

After conducting thousands of one-on-one interviews with healthcare workers of all levels, from maintenance to top executives, Khrys Kantarze knows human behavior and what motivates people to achieve excellence.

Khrys has created 3 key programs to provide the proven tools and "know how" required for supervisors and managers to maximize their communication, team development, inspiration and leadership:

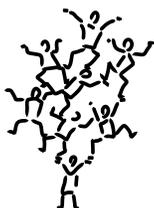

Positive Leadership for Today's Generations

Times have changed and anyone leading today's healthcare workers is faced with the challenge of motivating people with a variety of backgrounds. From the new grads of today that have grown up in a fast-paced world, to the Baby Boomers-- figuring how to motivate and educate effectively with the diversity of today's workforce can be difficult, but doesn't have to be. Treating everyone the same merely reaches a small portion of your workforce. Incorporating the differences between each generation and the needs of common personality types into one discussion, this session is designed so participants can achieve immediate results in meeting the needs of their employees.

Dynamic Teams: Creating the Team of Your Dreams

Healthcare facilities that achieve excellence have dynamic, motivated work teams that deliver a consistent level of quality. Understanding how this level of teamwork is created is pivotal to taking performance to the next level. Sometimes our actions and words work against promoting positive teamwork in the workplace. This dynamic and entertaining seminar is packed with the issues reported by facility staff during decades of one-on-one interviews. The focus is on learning techniques to ensure you're not making the common mistakes leaders make that create a division among the team members.

Getting a Charge Nurse to Charge

Who hasn't experienced the frustration of getting a charge nurse to charge! Their ability to effectively lead the unit is critical to the overall success of the organization. An effective charge nurse can have a positive impact on quality indicators, employee morale, retention and customer satisfaction. This seminar is uniquely designed to help leaders enhance their ability to get the Charge Nurse to take charge! The material is uniquely based on what hundreds of charge nurses have expressed as the factors that keep them from taking charge. Laugh as you learn practical techniques to permanently transfer the daily management responsibility to the nurse (and have them take it).

Review Khrys Kantarze's Biography and References at <http://www.maunlemke.com> or call Kathy Cain at (800) 356-2233 for more information

Book multiple speakers for a $$$ discount. Ask us how!

